

Ethical and Sustainable Leadership

Anchal Singh Chouhan

Assistant Professor, Sage University, Bhopal, India.

Abstract: This paper discusses the meaning and importance of ethical and sustainable leadership. It explains how leaders can guide others by being honest, fair, and caring about the environment. It also describes the benefits of such leadership for organizations, people, and the planet.

Keywords: Ethical leadership, sustainable leadership, honesty, fairness, environment, responsibility, trust, long-term success, social impact.

How to cite this article: Anchal Singh Chouhan. (2025). Ethical and Sustainable Leadership. 6th International Conference on Interdisciplinary Approaches in Science, Engineering and Technology-2025, Proceeding in IJS MRT, ISSN: 2582-8150, Volume-21, Issue-03, Number-03, Dec-2025, pp.12-13, URL: <https://www.ijsmrt.com/wp-content/uploads/2026/01/IJS MRT-25120303.pdf>

Copyright © 2025 by author (s) and International Journal of Scientific Modern Research and Technology Journal. This is an Open Access article distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution License (CC BY 4.0)

<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>

IJS MRT-25120303

I. INTRODUCTION

Leadership means guiding and influencing people to achieve a goal. Ethical and sustainable leadership is a special kind of leadership that focuses on doing the right thing and protecting the environment. This kind of leadership is important because it helps build trust, protects nature, and supports long-term success.

What is Ethical Leadership?

Ethical leadership means leading with honesty, fairness, and respect. Ethical leaders always try to do what is right. They tell the truth, treat everyone equally, and keep their promises. Ethical leaders set a good example for others by following moral values like kindness and responsibility.

What is Sustainable Leadership?

Sustainable leadership means leading with care for the environment and future generations. Sustainable leaders make choices that protect natural resources like water, air, and forests. They avoid harming the environment and encourage others to use resources wisely. The goal is to make sure that the planet stays healthy for people now and in the future.

Why is Ethical and Sustainable Leadership Important?

Builds Trust: When leaders are honest and fair, people trust them. This trust helps teams work well together.

Protects the Environment: Sustainable leadership helps reduce pollution and saves natural resources.

Supports Long-Term Success: Leaders who care about ethics and sustainability help their organizations grow in a strong and lasting way.

Improves Reputation: Companies and groups known for good leadership attract customers and employees who care about fairness and the environment.

How to Practice Ethical and Sustainable Leadership

Be Honest: Always tell the truth and admit mistakes.

Treat Everyone Fairly: Respect all people and do not show favoritism.

Think About the Future: Make decisions that protect the environment and help future generations.

Use Resources Wisely: Save water, electricity, and materials to avoid waste.

Listen and Include Others: Encourage teamwork and respect different opinions.

Take Responsibility: Accept the consequences of your actions and work to improve.

people fairly, and care for the environment build trust and create lasting success. Everyone can learn to be a better leader by making fair and careful choices that protect the planet and support people today and in the future.

II. EXAMPLES OF ETHICAL AND SUSTAINABLE LEADERSHIP

Many leaders and companies today are working hard to be ethical and sustainable. For example, some companies use solar energy to reduce pollution. Others make sure workers have safe workplaces and fair wages. These leaders show how it is possible to be successful while caring for people and the planet.

III. CHALLENGES OF ETHICAL AND SUSTAINABLE LEADERSHIP

Being ethical and sustainable is not always easy. Sometimes there is pressure to make quick money or ignore environmental rules. Also, some leaders might not want to change old habits. However, true leaders stay committed to doing what is right, even when it is hard.

IV. BENEFITS OF ETHICAL AND SUSTAINABLE LEADERSHIP

Better Teamwork: Honest and fair leadership creates a happy and productive team.

Customer Loyalty: People prefer to support businesses they trust and respect.

Positive Social Impact: Sustainable actions help reduce pollution and protect communities.

Stronger Organizations: Caring for people and the environment leads to long-term growth and success.

V. CONCLUSION

Ethical and sustainable leadership is very important for a better world. Leaders who act honestly, treat